Learnings of today's session

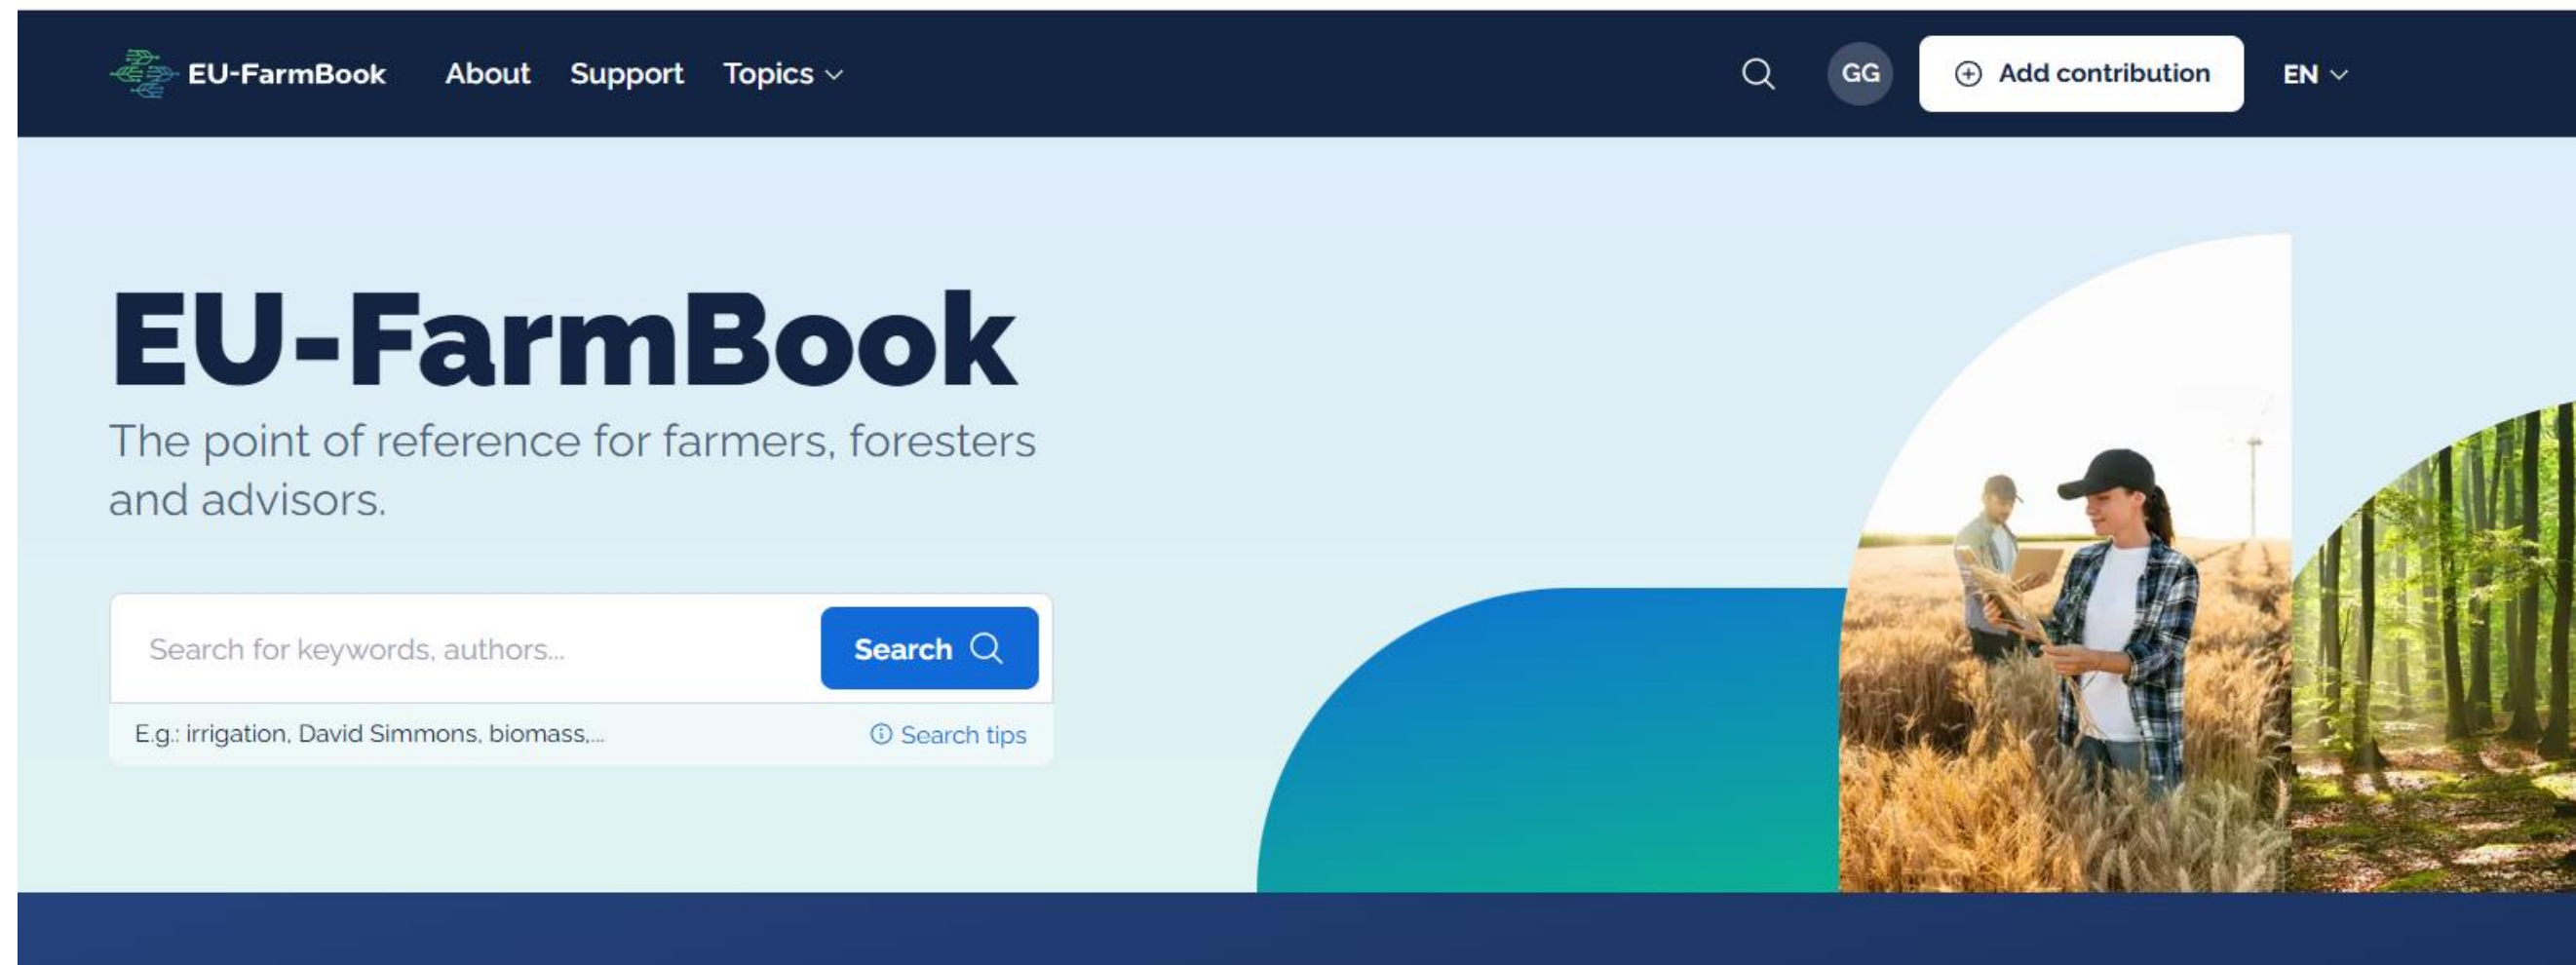

- Introduction to the EU-FarmBook Platform
- What is the definition of the Practice-Oriented Materials?
- What are the requirements to access the EU-FarmBook platform?
- Who is the Contributor?
- Know your target group
- Metadata for Practice-Oriented Materials
- How to upload the materials to the platform

Introduction the EU-FarmBook Platform

EU-FarmBook is an under-development online platform that gathers and provides materials from the domain of agriculture and forestry.

The materials derive from research and innovation projects funded by the EU (Horizon 2020 and Horizon Projects, as well as EIP-AGRI Operational Groups) or from national and/or regional knowledge reservoirs.

Practice-Oriented Materials

A Practice-Oriented material or a Knowledge Object refers to documents, videos, presentations or other items developed under the programs funded by the EU.

A Practice-Oriented material should address the needs of farmers, foresters and advisors and be in a non-technical or political language.

Requirements to access the EU-FarmBook platform

Practice-oriented materials or knowledge objects can be made available to the EU-FarmBook platform by an authorized

CONTRIBUTOR

Partner or coordinator of a research and
innovation project
funded by the EU

Manager of a national and/or regional knowledge reservoir

Know your target group

The EU-FarmBook Platform aims to reach a large audience across the EU and is primarily made up of people involved in forestry and agriculture, such as:

FARMERS

FORESTERS

ADVISORS

EDUCATORS

Knowledge Flows

Document was produced → Document was uploaded to the EU-FarmBook and is now visible to the Target Group

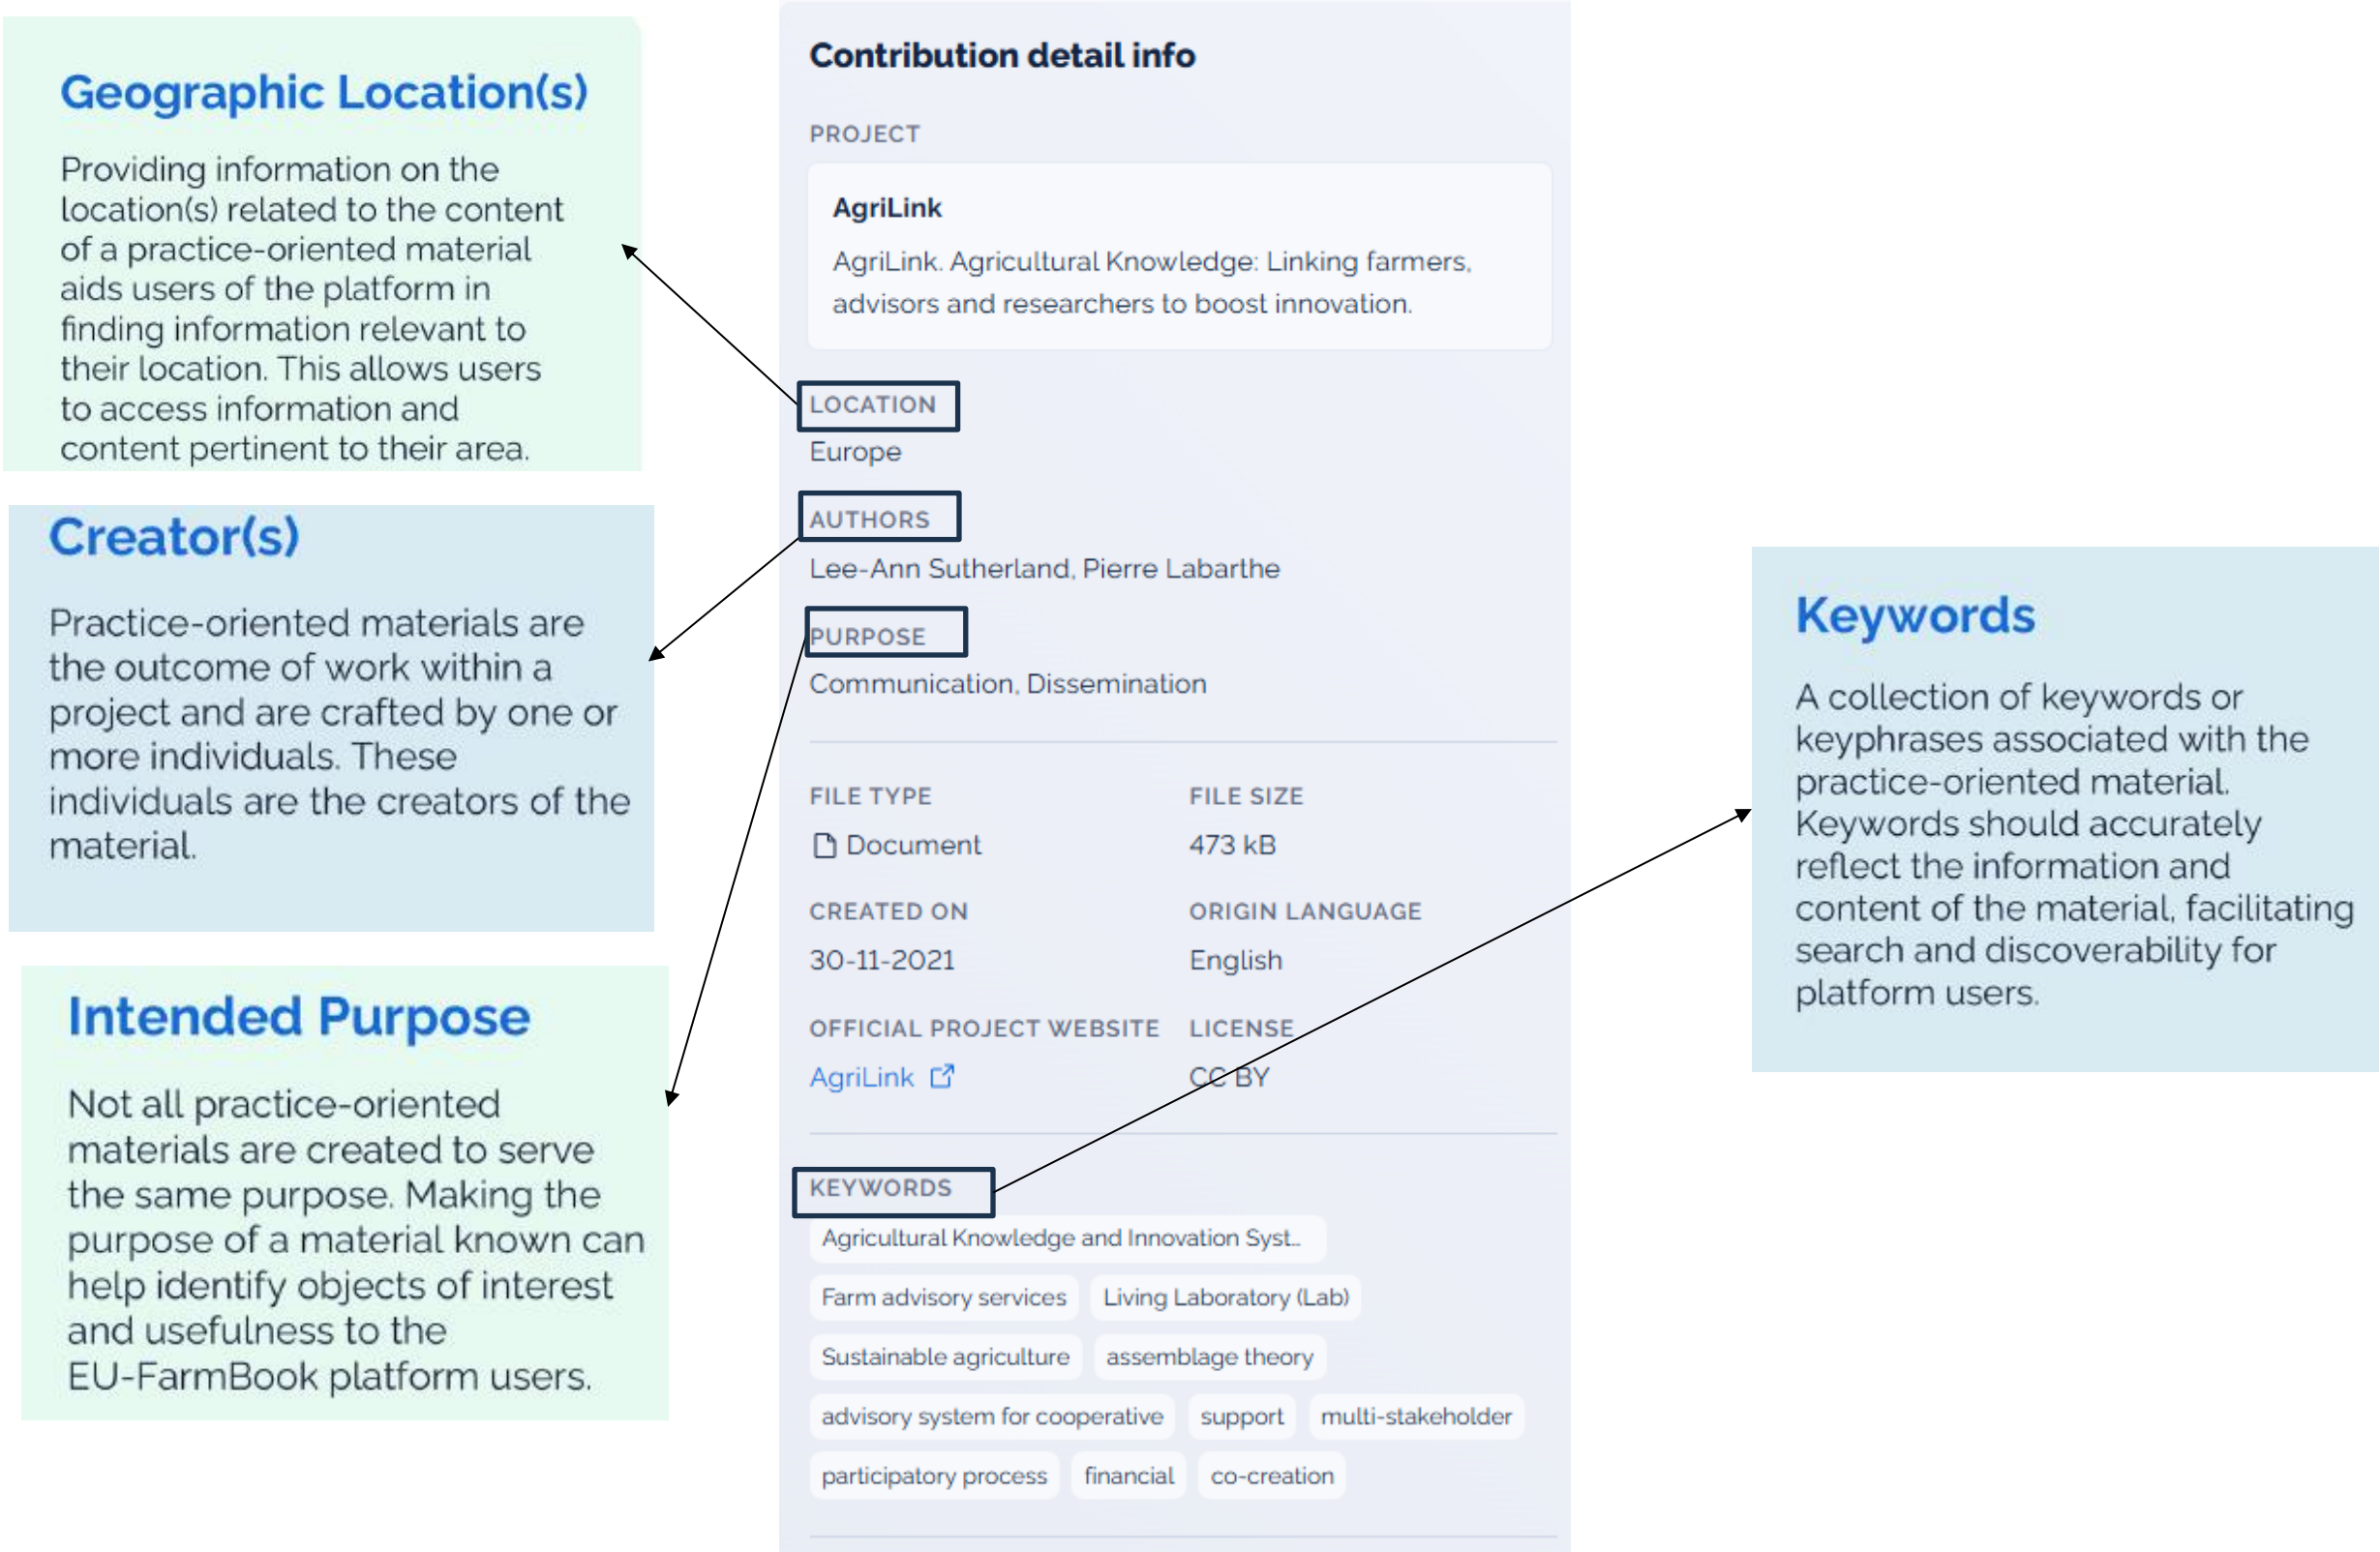

Metadata for Practice-Oriented Materials

The Metadata used for practice-oriented materials description in the EU-FarmBook platform has been considered as the minimum set of information identified as a must have for an adequate description.

Metadata for Practice-Oriented Materials

Metadata for Practice-Oriented Materials

Category

The category to which the practice-oriented material belongs (such as text documents, videos, presentations, audios, images, applications, and datasets).

Date of Completion

This denotes the date (preferably in DD/MM/YYYY format) indicating the precise time of the creation of the practice-oriented material. This information is vital considering the pace at which results are generated and how quickly they become outdated.

Language(s)

Research and innovation projects disseminate their findings (practice-oriented materials) not only in English but also in other languages. Information regarding the language(s) in which a material is available is crucial for addressing multilingual aspects.

License

It may be the case that a practice-oriented material has been assigned a license by its creator(s) specifying the conditions and terms of (re-) use.

Let's Upload Knowledge Objects

EU-FarmBook Upload Form

A user must log in to upload and have the role of the contributor assigned by (for example) the coordinator of a project or other authorized user of the platform.

EU-FarmBook Application Programming Interface

As opposed to the Upload Form that aimed to be used for the upload of relatively small numbers of POMs, the EU-FarmBook API allows for large-scale programmatic uploads.

EU-FarmBook API

Welcome to the API documentation for the EU-FarmBook platform

The endpoints listed below provide contributors access to upload Knowledge Objects and metadata to the EU-FarmBook platform programmatically. Contributors are also able to download information from the EU-FarmBook for the projects for which they are registered.

Prerequisites

- You must have created an account with the EU-FarmBook
- You must be registered as a coordinator or contributor for a given project. Click here for more information.
